Poetical.

THE RELIC ON THE ROCKS.

The lustrous moon through the winterly night
Glides with the stateliest pomp of a queen,
Over filmy cloudlets of pearly white,
And a cold calm sea of transcendent sheen;
The gleam of her robe is reflected there,
And lights up her path like the mermaid's hair.

Sheds over the tremulous, sleeping sea
A vision of beauty and pure delight,
And softens with fingers of fantasie
The grim gray cliff's inaccessible height,
Till the soul is lost in a dreamy mist,
And all seemeth lovely the moon hath kissed.

But something hides in the rift of the rock,
Near a yawning cavern's ominous gloom,
Which the shimmering moonbeams dare not mock
With their lightsome touch, for it tells of doom;
In its silence filling the air with sound,
And the whirl of a tempest is all around.

A something with ribs and a broken back,
Skeleton ribs that are gaunt and grim,
Lying alone in the shadow so black,
A wreck, nevermore to be taut and trim;
Nevermore answer to breeze or to blast,
With a floating pennon, or straining mast.

Lying there, rotting, by night and by day,
Under that cruel and pitiless crag;
Only the curlew to watch its decay,
Only the seaweed for pennon and flag;
Nothing but timber and cordage, 'tis true;
Only a boat—but the boat had a crew!

THE STATE CONVENTION.

ORANGE NOBLE SUCCESSFUL.

THE PLATFORM.

The Democratic State Convention was called to order at noon on the 28th by Chairman A. H. Dill, of the State Central Committee, and the following officers were appointed: Sergeants-at-arms, H. S. Lucas, Michael Sullivan, Joseph J. King; doorkeepers, J. G. Pratt, George J. Akers, John Marley, A. Cassidy, S. Scott and S. McKean.

The proceedings were opened with prayer by Caleb U. Wright, delegate from Bucks county. The following Secretaries were announced: William McClellan, George D. Herbert, W. F. McCully, William Hasson, William R. Stover, George B. Kuease, Alexander Russell, E. M. Haldeman and J. Milton Hall.

The roll of delegates was then called and credentials were presented.

On motion of Mr. James, of Northampton, W. U. Hensel, of Lancaster, was unanimously chosen permanent chairman. He was escorted to the chair by Jacob Zeigler and Felix Cracraft, and greeted with the most hearty applause. He spoke as follows:

MR. HENSEL'S ADDRESS.

"Gentlemen of the Convention: There are no off years in Democratic hopes and Democratic exertions. Profoundly appreciating the honor of the call which you have extended to me, I am not insensible to the responsibilities which its acceptance involves. I trust I need not say that I will endeavor to meet and discharge them without fear, favor or affection. I am not unmindful that the long shadows of a people's grief fall athwart any popular gathering in these times and that the whole republic laments the calamity which has befallen it in the assassination of the Chief Magistrate. Deprecating as they do any assault upon the dignity of established office by fraud or force, the Democrats of Pennsylvania sincerely join in the universal sorrow and sympathy which this tragic event has awakened. All the more deeply do they feel the necessity of re-affirming by their words and works their fidelity to the principles of those illustrious men who settled our free institutions and founded the Democratic party to preserve them. They who look for a Democratic State Convention to reset ancient land marks, will, I trust, look in vain. Time has only vindicated the efficiency of the essential principals of democracy to truly 'save the life of the nation,' and keep each part of our well devised constitutional system in full vigor and free exercise; to reassert rather than to take departure from this faith delivered by the fathers, and to nominate candidates who are the embodiment thereof in the office of this convention. In the measure that this is done will the people of the commonwealth approve the deliverance of the party. That pledge, I may be allowed to say, involves a declaration of honest money, home rule, fair elections and economy in the expenses of government; against all schemes of centralization of the public business, against repudiation and repudiators, and against the growth and exactions of monopolies or the extension of subsidies to corporations at the people's expense. A long career of faithfulness to public trust has informed the people of this commonwealth of the dishonest purposes of the republican party. Recent events have quickened public apprehension of fatal results to the state for its longer continuance in power and the formidable rebellion everywhere asserting itself against corrupt personal and political dynasties gives promise that the day of Pennsylvania's deliverance is at hand. Honest men are hopeful that in the near future a better political creed is here to prevail than of addition, division and silence. These signs of the times point the way to democratic expediency as well as democratic duty. If this convention shall meet and discharge that duty, as I know it will, it will justify the hopes of a large majority of the people whose eyes are turned this way to-day. If it shall arraign the opposition for the sins of commission and omission and its deeper vices of corruption; if it shall pledge itself without quivocation to better things, and if it shall prove its sincerity by having a candidate whose character is without fear and whose record is without reproach, it will not have met in vain. Its results may be of far wider reaching importance than simply to determine the elect custodian of the state funds. It may be the forerunner of political contests culminating in the near future in the long-waited for national verdict, which fraud cannot reverse and force cannot overturn. Gentlemen of the convention, I am prepared to receive any motion looking to the proper dispatch of your business." His speech was frequently applauded.

A proposition fixing the order of business was presented by Mr. George McGowan, of Philadelphia, and called forth an extended discussion. The convention then proceeded to adjust committees on organization, after which the convention adjourned until 3 p. m.

The committee on organization met afterwards, Colonel Duff in the chair, and agreed to make the temporary chairman permanent. They also decided to have a vice president and secretary from each senatorial district. The temporary secretaries were also to be permanent.

THE PLATFORM.

The report from the committee on resolutions was then read and adopted, as follows:

Resolved, That we, the democratic party of Pennsylvania, in convention assembled, declare:

FIRST—For the preservation of the constitution of the United States; home rule, freedom of election; for resistance to revolutionary changes, tending to consolidation or empire; against the election of any person to the presidency a third time; against the presence of troops at the polls; against the appropriation of public moneys for any purpose but the support of the government; and class legislation, which despoils labor to build up monopoly.

SECOND—That the democratic party, as of old, favors a constitutional currency of gold and silver, in all forms, and coalition with repudiators merits the condemnation of honest people. The refusal of a republican administration to accede to the democratic demand for a further reduction in the rate of interest on the national debt subjects the government to a needless expense of half a million dollars annually.

THIRD—In view of the exposure of extensive frauds in the postal and treasury departments under the last federal administration, the people demand prompt and unfaltering prosecution of the thieves; their successful operations prove that there will be no real reform in the management of the departments of the federal government without a sweeping change therein. Sincere civil service reform will begin with a return to the Jeffersonian tests for office holders of honesty, capability and faithfulness to the constitution.

FOURTH—That in the administration of the government of Pennsylvania the republican party has encouraged, practiced and shielded spoliation of the state treasury and misuse of the public funds, bribery of legislators, undue favor to corporations and monopolies, an unnecessarily high rate of interest on the state loans, a shameless prostitution of the pardoning power, a system of wholesale waste and peculation in the ordinary expenditures of the government, and an harrassing and plundering exercise of municipal franchises and abuse of local trusts.

FIFTH—That the arrogant, corrupt and personal domination controlling the republican party in this state, and suppressing honesty and independence in that organization, dictated the policy, the platform and the candidate of its last state convention. In view of these facts we hereby reaffirm the following resolution of the democratic state convention of 1879: "That the recent attempt under the personal direction of ruling republican leaders to debauch the legislature by wholesale bribery and corruption, and take from the commonwealth four millions of dollars, for which its liability had never been ascertained, is a fresh and alarming evidence of the aggressiveness of corporate power in collusion with political rings, and should receive the signal condemnation of the people at the polls.

SIXTH—That the democratic party of Pennsylvania, regardful of the state's honor and its interests, pledges itself to the just application of the public moneys to the public service; to economy in governmental expenditures, that the people may be lightly burdened and the purity of the administration preserved; to the abolition of all useless offices and the lopping off of all supernumerary officials; to the lowest practicable rate of interest on state loans, without regard for the advantage of syndicates or speculators; to sleepless vigilance against the growth and exactions of monopolies; to watchful guard of the public interests against the pretensions of the great transportation companies to be above the fundamental law governing all else within the borders of the state; to a vigorous collection of all the taxes lawfully laid upon corporations chartered or doing business in Pennsylvania; and to investigation into, correction of and punishment for the frauds and wastes which have for years permeated various departments of the state government under republican control.

SEVENTH—That no monopolies or exclusive right in the forces of nature, in grants of eminent domain, in the diffusion of information among the people by telegraph and associations for furnishing dispatches to the press, or grant of privileges affecting the daily business of the citizen can or ought rightfully to exist under our form of government. These are at all times to be subject to such legislative regulation and control as the rights and interests of the people demand.

EIGHTH—That the delegated power of congress to regulate commerce among the states and the reserved power of the states to regulate the same within their borders should be forthwith exercised to prevent unjust discrimination by common carriers against individuals and localities, and all provisions of the constitution of Pennsylvania relative to the exercise and abuse of corporate franchise and duties of common carriers to the public should be enforced without delay by appropriate legislation.

NINTH—That all governmental power should be used in restraint of monopolies and not in aid of them and simple and speedy remedies should be provided by legislative enactment by which any citizen injured in his business may, in the state and federal courts, by one process of law, have quick, certain and adequate redress for corporate wrongs.

TENTH—That vested rights must be protected and respected, and great corporations warring between themselves to the injury of the public interest and their own shareholders must be regulated and controlled by wise and effective laws.

ELEVENTH.—That franchises properly of the people shall be granted and exercised solely for the public benefit, and subject to immediate and absolute forfeiture by due process of law when used for oppression or extortion, or when otherwise abused. No corporation can be above the people or the law. We thus reaffirm the ancient doctrines of the democratic party, and most cordially invite our fellow citizens of whatever party to join with us in carrying out the principles and policy we hereby announce, and to the advocacy of which we pledge ourselves until the right shall prevail.

TWELFTH—That all good citizens regardless of party affiliations sincerely mourn the death of President Garfield, and that we, as representatives of more than four hundred thousand democratic voters, express their individual and collective grief at the calamity which has befallen the republic, their sorrow and sympathy with the domestic affliction of the president's stricken household, and their execration of his assassin and of the murderer's foul crime.

NOBLE RECEIVES THE NOMINATION.

On the ninth ballot quite a number of changes were made in rapid succession and when the vote was announced it stood as follows: Noble, 149; Davis, 94; Plumer, 4; Dill, 3. Mr. Heidrick moved to make the nomination unanimous and it was carried. The chair then declared Mr. Noble the nominee.

Mr. Law offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That in Orange Noble, this day nominated for state treasurer on the platform adopted by this convention, we present a candidate entitled to the confidence of the people; one who, if elected, will keep the public money safely, make known his places of deposit, hold his books and papers open to inspection and preserve the commonwealth from any repetition of the systematic embezzlements of interest and other spoliations which marked the long and scandalous career of the republican treasury ring; who will neither seek nor take any emoluments of the office other than the lawful salary, and who will exert his influence to prevent, expose and punish the plundering system of purchasing state supplies which has long prevailed in Harrisburg to the shame of the commonwealth.

Before the ninth ballot was announced a wild scene of confusion ensued, when a large number of the Pittsburg delegates changed from Guthrie to Davis, followed by a large number of delegates who changed from Bogert, Kerr and Plumer to Noble. The Philadelphia delegates finding they were outgeneralled reluctantly and gloomily swallowed their defeat, and many of them changed from Davis to Noble. On the secretary announced the vote, the chair announced that Hon. Orange Noble, having received a majority of all the votes cast, was the choice of this convention for Treasurer.

A number of motions were made and lost relating to the matter of perfecting the organization of the state committee.

Mr. Hensel vacated the chair in favor of Hon. Robert E. James, of Northampton, and took the floor for the purpose of urging the passage of the new rules adopted in committee.

For more than an hour there was the liveliest kind of a debate, and various motions were made for the purpose of defeating the rules. Finally Mr. Hensel withdrew the rules and the convention proceeded to the election of a chairman of the State Central Committee. The names of Mr. J. K. Bogert, of Luzerne, and Hon. Robert E. James were put in nomination for the chairmanship, and on a call of the roll, the following result was announced:

J. K. Bogert - 55 | Robert E. James - 44

The chair stated that Mr. Bogert, having received a majority of the votes cast, was duly elected.

On motion the nomination was made unanimous.

Before the adjournment Chairman Hensel took occasion to speak of the excellent work of the convention, regretting exceedingly the confusion in the latter part of the proceedings.

On motion of Mr. Miller the thanks of the convention were extended to the chair for the able and impartial manner in which he had presided.

On motion the chair was instructed to appoint a committee of five to inform Hon. Orange Noble of his nomination as Treasurer.

On motion adjourned sine die.

ORANGE NOBLE.

The Democratic State Convention did well in nominating Orange Noble for the standard bearer of the party in the coming battle. He is an energetic, active and successful business man, who raised himself from comparative poverty to great wealth by sagacity and application, and is now prominently connected with many leading industries of the city in which he resides. As he has shown himself capable of managing his private affairs with profit, it is fair to presume that he would handle the public funds with honesty and discretion if chosen State Treasurer.

Mr. Noble was born in Washington county, New York, April 27th, 1817, and is now 64 years of age. In early life he was a farmer but abandoned the tilling of the soil for the more profitable ventures of mercantile life. He was one of the earliest oil operators and owned a valuable well as far back as 1863. He has lived in Erie for seventeen years and has been an influential and valuable citizen. He has served four terms as Mayor of the city. His business enterprises are many; he is president of the Keystone National Bank, half owner of the Bay State Iron Works, the head of a sewing machine company and is interested in oil and iron. Mr. Noble has served one term in the legislature and has been an opponent of the Standard Oil Company—a fact that entitles him to the support of all anti-monopolists. There is no reason why he should not poll the full vote of the party and this he doubtless will do. In the present distracted condition of the Republican party in the State, it is more than probable that Mr. Noble will be elected. Every Democrat should vote for him and make the majority as large as possible. Mr. Noble will make an efficient officer and reflect credit upon the Democratic party of the State, while guarding the interests of the public.

Queen Victoria, during the sickness of President Garfield, showed a true womanly sympathy for Mrs. Garfield and repeatedly sent messages expressive of the most kindly feeling. After the President's death, Minister Lowell received the following telegram from the Queen: 'Would you express my sincere condolence to the late President's mother and inquire after her health, as well as after Mrs. Garfield's?' Her Majesty adds: "I should be thankful if you would procure me a good photograph of General Garfield." Mrs. Garfield replied in fitting terms and promised that the request should be complied with. If the Queen were in the habit of sympathising with foreigners in their afflictions there would be nothing remarkable in this action on her part. But such is not the case—on the contrary this is the first time, so far as the United States are concerned, that Queen Victoria has ever shown any particular interest in the grief of strangers.

The Erie Herald, an alleged Democratic paper, has declared against Mr. Noble, for no better reason, according to the Philadelphia Times, than that it is the personal organ of William L. Scott who doesn't like Mr. Noble. The Times "welcomes the Herald to the independent line, no matter why or how it was driven out of the party traces," and says further that "kicking is always wholesome." The majority of right minded men will not agree with the Times, nor do we believe the Times would be willing to stand by its own assertion. That sort of thing is not "independence," but pure "cussedness," without a shadow of an excuse. It would be impossible to maintain any kind of party discipline, if personal motives were accepted as adequate excuses for bolting. The Times is so frightfully independent that perhaps it prefers anarchy and a sort of "de'il take the hindmost" ticket.

The opinion is rapidly spreading that radical changes are necessary in the Millersville State Normal School, and such as do not affect the scholars. The faculty and some of the trustees are pursuing a course which is at once illegal and ridiculous and are drawing public contempt upon themselves. The faculty appear to be very small autocrats who are vindictive and overbearing, and their arbitrary and foolish measures are bringing the school into di-repute. Whether they have any right to dismiss scholars for refusing to obey illogical and silly commands may be a subject of dispute, but there can be no doubt whatever that the faculty have no right to forbid other Normal Schools from receiving the dismissed pupils. The faculty may find themselves confronted with unpleasant legal proceedings unless they abandon that line of procedure.

Peace does not reign in Luzerne, the home of Hoyt and Palmer, and despite the autocratic dictation of the "bosses", there is a decided boom for Wolfe. In the city of Wilkes Barre, under the very noses of the party magnates, a Wolfe club has been organized with a very respectable roll of members and a probability of further accessions. Mr. Palmer on hearing of the intention to start such a club thought that it would be "like a bumble bee, biggist at its birth." The club rather liked the idea and adopted the name of the Bumble Bees, but Palmer's prediction has proved untrue, for the membership is increasing. Pittston will add a good many recruits to Wolfe's army, and it is quite likely that the vote for the machine candidate in November will not greatly please Cameron, Hoyt & Co.

Two plans have been suggested for the relief of the Michigan sufferers by utilizing the cloths used in draping buildings; one of these is to send the cloths direct to those in need, and the other is to sell the goods at auction and remit the proceeds. Either plan would be beneficial. In the larger cities, alpaca, cashmere and even more costly materials were used and these would make excellent dresses. The lighter muslins, &c., could be used for linings. The express companies have volunteered to carry all such goods free of charge if delivered at the railroad stations. If it is decided to sell the stuffs, the money will be sent without loss of time. There are thousands in great distress and prompt efforts should be made to relieve them.

As the Providence Press truthfully says, "train robbing seems to be one of the safest as well as one of the most profitable lines of business in the South-west."

Galusha A. Grow don't shout for Wolfe—Williamsport Gazette & Bulletin.

Just as loudly as he does for Baily.

Capt. H. W. Howgate, the embezzling Signal Service officer returned to Washington on Tuesday and was arrested on the charge of embezzling $50,000 additional of goverment money.

Judge Tourgee says that the most remarkable thing about President Arthur is his tremendous organizing power. Evidently the Judge has not yet finished his "Errand."

The theological faculty of Yale College has decided to use the revised version of the New Testament, voting it "better than any other English version, because it follows more exactly the Greek text as originally written, and is a more clear and correct translation."

Hon. Simon Cameron says that Mr. Wolfe has never given any evidence of his fitness for the office of State treasurer. Speaking of fitness, how very, very interesting it would be to know the peculiar fitness of Mr. Cameron's son Don, for the office of United States Senator. Mr. Cameron is such a shrewd old gentleman that it is possible he has discovered what nobody else has.

On the way home from the Democratic State Convention at Williamsport, some of the Philadelphia delegates behaved in an outrageous manner and earned merited contempt. One Bob Lister Smith shot Sam Josephs, inflicting a wound in the foot. The shooting of Josephs is a matter of no moment except in that it affords an excellent opportunity to send Smith to jail for a season—and this opportunity should not be overlooked.

In the Supreme Court of this State on Monday a decision was delivered in the case of Stack vs. O'Hara, sustaining the Court of Lycoming county. Father Stack brought suit against Bishop O'Hara to recover damages for his unlawful removal from his charge. This will probably be the end of the litigation between Father Stack and Bishop O'Hara, which in one form or another has been before the Courts for years.

A rumor is afloat that Vanderbilt, in order to obtain a western outlet from Philadelphia, contemplates building a branch road to connect Antrim, Tioga county, with Williamsport, a distance of fifty miles. At the latter place it will connect with the Catawissa branch of the Reading R. R. By means of certain branch roads the main line of the New York Central will be reached and a through line obtained to Philadelphia. This is important, if true.

The Philadelphia Republican convention for the nomination of candidates for City Commissioner, held a few days ago, was the most disgraceful affair of the kind that ever occurred in the State. Squabbling and quarreling led to fighting and smashing of furniture and ended in a regular riot. The police finally managed to restore order. The machine organs have little to say—their eloquence is reserved to magnify trifling disorders in a Democratic convention into monstrous proportions. However there is this to be said, that Philadelphia politicians of whatever belief manage to disgrace the party to which they adhere.

The Philadelphia Chronicle Herald makes use of the following language, which is as true as it is severe: "The Philadelphia delegation to the Democratic convention earned the contempt of the country men. The rural Democrat all over the State is giving vent to his disgust at the conduct of the ignoramuses, clowns and tricksters who made up a large part of the delegation that was supposed to represent the 75,000 Democrats of Philadelphia. Will the party in this city ever get the upper hand of these people who cheat and disgrace it and make the name of a "Philadelphia Democrat" a by-word of shame and re-in the State convention every year?"

Some of our over-wise Republican organs have discovered that Hon. Orange Noble was Senator Wallace's man in the recent Convention and Mr Davis was the choice of Hon. Samuel J. Randall. Neither Mr. Wallace nor Mr. Randall took any part whatever in the proceedings and the latter was not even in Williamsport. We firmly believe that if the Democratic party were to adopt the Bible as a platform, that some such paper as the Altoona Tribune would straightway set about convincing its readers that the book was an utterly unreliable publication and emanated from a faction fight in the party.

Mr. Joseph K. Bogert, the new chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, is the editor and proprietor of the Wilkes Barre Union Leader and well known to all politicians in this part of the State. He was a candidate for State treasurer at the recent convention and was the representative of the young Democracy. His election as chairman may be attributed to that fact. Although he is a young man he has had long experience in politics and will make an able and efficient chairman. He has held the office of register in Luzerne county and conducted its affairs with signal ability. Mr. Bogert has plenty of pluck and determination, and will make the campaign a warm one for the Republicans.

And now the wonderful Tribune is maintaining that the law by which persons not members of the Senate are prohibited from taking part in its proceedings is in conflict with that clause of the Constitution which provides that no State shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate! So that if two Senators from one State were to die, or like Conkling and Platt to resign, the day before the Senate was to meet, the Senate could not be organized until a new election was held to fill their places. What a paper! What a paper! Why, oh why, doesn't it consult a law primer when it is minded to talk about law? But if it did, it would no longer be the Tribune. What a paper! What a paper.—N. Y. World.

Counsel for the government have filed affidavits in the Star route case, against Thomas J. Brady, John L. French, William H. Turner, George L. McDonough and Samuel P. Brown, for conspiring to defraud the United States, and prayed that the same be filed, and warrants be issued in the ordinary form, as prayed for. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the defendants, and it is probable that Gen. Brady's property will be attached. Proceedings will also be commenced against ex-Senator Dorsey. It really begins to look as if these public plunderers might be consigned to jail and some at least of the people's money recovered. It will be a tall plume in Arthurs cap if it is proved that a Republican administration dare put Republican thieves in jail—and keep them there.

THE PLATFORM.

The resolutions adopted by the recent Democratic State Convention, though somewhat diffuse are sound in principle and in accordance with the belief of all good men of the party. They will amply repay perusal and we hope that our readers will take time to carefully consider them. Briefly summarised, they declare for home rule, freedom of elections, opposition to monopoly and abuse of corporate franchises, economy in public expenditures, and demand the unfaltering prosecution of the Star route thieves. In state politics the republican administration is arraigned for its subservience to corporations, its abuse of trusts, its wastefulness in expenditure, and its shameless abuse of the pardoning power.

The resolutions close with a sincere expression of the profound sorrow of the democrats of Pennsylvania for the death of President Garfield, of sympathy for his stricken family, and of execration for his assassin.

The length of the resolutions should not prevent their being read attentively.

WOLFE'S CAMPAIGN.

Charles S. Wolfe delivered his opening speech of the campaign in the Assembly buildings, Philadelphia on Tuesday night. The hall was densely packed and hundreds were unable to gain admission. A long list of Vice Presidents and Secretaries included the names of many of the most prominent and influential Republicans in the city. Dr. Thomas P. Morton a well known physician presided. The speech was even more vigorous and telling than had been expected. He reviewed in scathing language the operations of the machine for the past five years and exposed the rottenness of the Pardon Poard and the rascality of the Riot Bill. It was a scorching arraignment, and cannot fail to produce an effect upon the more independent and honest Republicans. The Press admits that there is much truth in the charges made by Mr. Wolfe and unites with him in condemning the acts complained of. The Press says, "If Mr. Wolfe follows up his campaign with the vigor and directness of attack with which he has begun, it is manifest that the expectations entertained of a quiet campaign will be very far from realized." The organs throughout the State have received orders from Chairman Cooper not to notice Mr. Wolfe, but we are inclined to believe that the only result this will produce, will be an increased demand for independent papers wherein Mr. Wolfe's utterances are duly set forth and his actions chronicled.

A SERIOUS CASE.

In the early part of July last a man named Vicenzo Rebello, a fruit dealer in New Orleans, was arrested on the supposition that he was Esposito, a bandit, who was wanted by the Italian government for murder and other crimes. Rebello was taken to New York hundreds of miles from his home and had a hearing before United States Commissioner Osborn. The identity was not conclusively proved and much testimony of a conflicting character was given. On the 13th of September the Commissioner rendered his decision against the prisoner, and he was sent abroad on the 21st ult. Messrs. W. D. Shipman and W. G. Choate, counsel for Rebello, have submitted an elaborate memorial to Secretary Blaine to be laid before the President sharply reviewing the case. They hold that the arrest was illegal, the question of identity not proved and the stealthy removal of the prisoner culpable. The memorial is carefully drawn and will doubtless receive the attention it deserves. The legal gentlemen request the return of Rebello to this country where the question of his liability to extradition can properly be determined. It does appear as if there had been too much haste in the matter and as if it had not been conclusively proved that Rebello was Esposito. A subject so grave as this should receive instant attention as the extradition of foreign born citizens is a delicate duty and should only be exercised with great precaution. The case present many singular features and its conclusion will be awaited with great anxiety by all foreigners in this country.

THE ASSASSIN'S TRIAL.

District Attorney Corkhill last week issued subpœnas to the following witnesses for the government in the case of the United States vs. Charles J. Guiteau:

Edward A. Bailey, stenographer, who has a large mass of notes of conversations with Guiteau while in jail, giving his history from early boyhood, reasons for committing the act, etc.; George W. Adams, president of the Evening Star Publishing Company, who was in the depot en route to Cape May when the shooting occurred; George W. McElrath, detective; Dr. D. W. Bliss and Dr. D. S. Lamb, who were present at the autopsy; Jacob P. Smith, special officer at the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad depot, who witnessed the shooting and assisted in the arrest of Guiteau; Sarah E. D. White, in charge of the ladies' waiting room at the depot, who witnessed the shooting and helped to raise the President; Robert A. Park, ticket-seller, who jumped through the window of his office and assisted in raising the President; Policeman Patrick Kearney, who spoke to the President just before the shooting, telling him he had ten minutes to wait for the train; this witness also assisted in Guiteau's arrest.

The case was submitted to the grand jury on Tuesday and most of the witnesses mentioned gave their testimony. Mr. Edward L. Du Barry, a new witness, who was present at the depot and witnessed the shooting, also testified. At one o'clock in the afternoon the jury took a recess, and the foreman, Mr. Churchman, proceeded to the office of the district attorney and placed in Colonel Corkhill's hands a presentment against Charles J. Guiteau for the murder of James A. Garfield, President of the United States, by wounding him with a bullet fired from a pistol in the hands of Charles J. Guiteau, at the Baltimore and Potomac depot, on or about the second day of July, A. D. 1881.

At this writing, District Attorney Corkhill had not completed the formal indictment. The time for Guiteau's arraignment has not been made public and probably will not be. There is very little excitement in Washington and the officers do not anticipate any trouble. Guiteau is to be brought from the jail to the court, a distance of nearly three miles in the regular prision van, and his trial will be conducted in every respect the same as that of any other criminal.

The work of removing draperies for the Michigan sufferers began in New York on Tuesday. Such goods as are suitable for dresses will be sent West, and the remainder sold at auction. It is thought that $20,000 will be realized from the sale.

The defendants in the star route cases appeared in court at Washington on Tuesday and were released upon $7500 and $4000 bail.

Rough on Conkling.

At the Baptist Ministers' meeting in New York, on Monday the Rev. Dr. Wayland Hoyt of Brooklyn, speaking of the death of the late President, said: "If President Arthur in the face of this most awful Providence should take into his close counsels, or should put into a prominent position in office that man who in this State incarnates the hideous spoils system, and who, though I speak it with wonder and horror, was the only man North or South who stood with mute lips in our recent distress, then there ought to go up such a protest from press, pulpit, and people, that the President would realize that his seat is the gift of the people and that he is their servant. [continued applause.] The best place to rebuke the system is in its representative."

Black and white ostrich plumes will be used in trimming Fall hats.

Look out for horse thieves. They are becoming unpleasantly numerous throughout the State.

A cherry tree in full bloom adorns the premises of W. B. Freas, in Berwick. Such a curiosity is worth a visit.

The Columbia County Merchants Association will meet at their hall this, Friday, evening at eight o'clock.

The woods on the Catawissa mountains were on fire last week, but a timely fall of rain extinguished the flames.

The Friendship Fire company will give a ball in Brower's Hall on the evenings of Thursday and Friday during the Fair.

A crack in one of the boilers at Lockards' car works has necessitated a partial suspension of work until repairs are made.

Adolphus Kester who was sent to jail in default of bail for disorderly conduct, has secured bondsmen and is now at liberty.

It is reported that the crop of wild pigeons is very large this season in Pennsylvania. Have you seen any in this vicinity?

Tumors, erysipelas, mercurial diseases, scrofula, and general debility cured by "Dr. Lindsey's Blood Searcher." oct

The Bloomsburg Cornet Band will give a concert and dance at Sterner's Hall, this, Friday, evening, and a pleasant time is promised.

In the yard of J. F. Caldwell's bakery, Main and Centre streets, there is an apple tree in blossom. There's no end to the wonders this year.

Rev. B. B. Hensbey, of Northumberland, will preach in the Baptist church of this town, next Sunday morning and evening, at the usual hours.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sunday School Association will be held at Johnstown October 18th and 19th.

Annie Muller committed suicide in Detroit because her sweetheart gave his trousers to another girl to mend. Veritable breeches of the peace were they.

Two lots, with good house, barn and out buildings on each, for sale, in Bloomsburg. Inquire of WILLIAM KRICKBAUM.

Malaria has invaded the Milton Argus establishment and prostrated the editor and two compositors. The paper appeared last week by dint of much exertion.

FOR SALE.—A desirable building lot in Bloomsburg, corner of Main and West streets. Price reasonable, terms to suit purchaser. Inquire of Geo. E. Elwell.

Arrangements are being made to supply Mt. Carmel and Centralia with water, by the Brush Valley water works, for which a charter has been applied and $20,000 subscribed.

Monday last was the most solemn of fasts in the Jewish calendar. It is known as Yom Kippur, the great Day of Atonement, and it is strictly observed by the orthodox Jews.

The "Cheap Store" will return to Bloomsburg about the 10th or 12th inst. and our people are notified to expect great bargains, as the balance of the stock must be closed out.

Cards are out for the wedding of Mr. Levi Waller and Miss Buckalew, daughter of Hon C. R. Buckalew, at St. Paul's church on Wednesday afternoon, Octo. 12th, at half past one.

William Kramer has sold his store business to G. M. & J. K. Lockard who will hereafter conduct it themselves. We understand that Mr. Kramer will act for the Lockards as storekeeper.

The statement made in many of the newspapers of the State that firemen are exempt from taxation to the amount of $5, proves to be untrue. Careful search by lawyers fails to bring to light any such law.

Navigation on the West Branch canal, which has been suspended for several weeks on account of low water, was resumed on Sunday. A large number of boats loaded with lumber are now going through.

The Sunbury Gazette is a very independent —or non-committal—Republican journal and hoists the names of both Wolfe and Baily for State Treasurer. "You pays your money and you takes your choice."

Burglars have again appeared in Sunbury and three houses were recently entered and ransacked. Bloomsburg has not been molested by these marauders, but it would be well for our citizens to bolt and bar doors and windows after dark.

The pump in front of the Central Hotel was removed last Saturday, after 70 years of usefulness. It is rather sad to think that this water-giving benefactor has been an illegal obstruction in the public highway for seventy years, and, as such, liable to removal at any time.

A Missouri farmer claims that every quail on a man's farm is worth, at the least calculation, a dollar for the good done in destroying chinch bugs. If this be correct, it would certainly be to the interest of our farmers to keep at least one covey of quail on the farm.

It is said that squirrels are numerous this year, but we have not heard that many have been shot in this county. Perhaps with cooler weather there may be more interest on the part of our sportsmen.

As will be seen in our advertising columns, the well-known Red Mill in Hemlock township, is offered at private sale. The advantages of this property are familiar to all in the county who are interested in milling, and it is only necessary to call attention to the notice of sale.

The mercury took a tumble on Wednesday morning and got down to 35°—only three degrees above the freezing point. Is it any wonder in view of such extraordinary performances that Vennor cannot get any nearer the truth in his predictions.

[Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.]

A STRONG CONQUEROR.

According to an Illinois exchange, our days of rheumatism are well nigh numbered. St. Jacob's Oil enters rheumatic territory, and conquers every subject. That's right. We believe in it.

"Seller's Liver Pills," have been the standard remedy for malaria, liver complaint, costiveness, etc., for fifty years. oct

Vennor's predictions for the past three months have been so conspicuously inexact that very little faith is left in his weather prophecies. He says that "with a little study and careful observation anybody can be a weather prophet." The simplicity of this plan irresistibly leads us to wonder why Vennor doesn't study and observe.

Although the people of this country have suffered from the effects of the long-continued drought, they ought to be thankful that the terrible tornadoes which have devastated the West have not visited them. The loss of life and property by these hurricanes has been very great in many of the Western states.

A disease resembling hog cholera prevails in the vicinity of Limestoneville. Several farmers have lost from five to twenty hogs each. All remedies tried thus far have proved unavailing. The animals afflicted do not live longer than a week and some of them die after the sickness of a day or two.

Counterfeit five dollar notes on the Leicester National Bank, of Leicester, Mass., and the First National Bank of St. Johnsbury, Vt. are in circulation. Take a look at all five dollar notes before putting them in your pocket book. You might receive one of these worthless things.

A Neapolitan gardener, after years of experiment, has produced a camelia with a delicate perfume, and thinks it probable that these flowers may in the near future be so cultivated as to rival the rose in fragrance. It is to be hoped that his belief may prove true. With perfume, the camelia would be the most perfect of flowers.

Beer drinkers in Bloomsburg will be sorry to hear that Philip Robinson's brewery in Scranton was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last. The workmen who slept on the premises made a narrow escape by leaping through windows. The loss is said to be $25,000. The beer made by Robinson was of good quality and met with ready sale here.

The Friendship Fire Company of Danville, won the second prize at the tournament in Reading for making the run of 300 yards to hydrant, attaching and laying one line of hose 300 feet, breaking coupling, attaching play pipe and showing water. The prize was a Spawn and Dennison hose jumper, valued at $150. Our neighbor "fire laddies" are to be congratulated on their success.

Late pears may be kept in a cool cellar in shallow boxes ranged one above another, and open in the front in part, so that each box can be examined from time to time, and the ripe ones removed. A few fine pears for home use can be kept in a closet and covered with a blanket, by which their ripening will be hastened.

Many of our readers will doubtless remember the small tent show of Main & Co., which was in Bloomsburg some weeks ago, one of the principal performers being Signor La Andre, the man with the iron jaw. This athlete met his death at the State fair in Indianapolis last week. He was holding a barrel of water and two men with his teeth, and letting go his hold was fatally crushed.

A determined warfare has been begun in New York against mutilated silver coins, and at many places they will not be taken in payment. Designing rascals punch holes in the coins and steal a certain amount of silver. This lessens the value of the piece and the effort is now making to stop the practice by preventing the circulation of the coins. Don't take them, or you may be left with several on your hands and no demand for them.

The Friendship and Rescue fire companies had a friendly contest on Wednesday last, which was quite interesting. They ran a distance of 200 yards, unreeled 100 feet of hose, detached, coupled and threw water. The Friendship proved the victor, having accomplished the work in one minute and twenty two seconds. The Rescue's time was one minute and thirty-one seconds. As will be seen, both companies acquitted themselves well.

The North Branch Railroad company made application to the Court of Common Pleas for the approval of a bond in the sum of $10,000 for lands of the Susquehanna Coal Company—or Pennsylvania Railroad Company—at Nanticoke. It was argued on behalf of the North Branch Railroad Company by Attorney General Palmer and ex-Senator Buckalew, and on the other side by E. P. Darling, Esq. Upon technical grounds the application was withdrawn for the present, but it will be renewed upon ten days' notice to the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Mr. Roberts.—Union-Leader, Sept. 30th.

Owners of horses will do well to keep close watch over their animals and take prompt measures in case of disease. A new and mysterious horse disease, to which the name of "pink-eye" has been given, has made its appearance in St. Louis, Chicago and New York. In the former city 6000 horses are already laid up. It is claimed by some veterinary surgeons that the disease is identical with the epizooty with which horsemen have become familiar. How far it may spread cannot be foreseen, and it may become epidemic throughout the country. In Harrisburg recently several fine horses have died from blood poisoning, and spasmodic colic is prevalent. Watch your horses and if disease attacks them, use every means to keep it from spreading.

MAIL FAILURES.

The Bloomsburg papers are drawing attention to the repeated failures of the morning mail on the L. & B. R. R. and dealing some sharp raps at the company and demanding of the department to institute a reform. We join with them in this complaint. There is no reason why a railroad company should not be held to its contract as closely as a private individual. The trouble is, railroad companies know that if the mail carrying is taken from them there is no other mode to serve it, hence their indifference as to complaints on this score. The Post Office department should find some way to bring these delinquents to their duty or else cut down their appropriations.—Danville Intelligencer.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The ever popular play of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" drew a large audience to the Opera House on Monday evening last. It was quite well presented and gave general satisfaction, if we may judge by the alternating laughter and tears that attended the humorous and pathetic parts of the piece. Fred Mower made a dignified Uncle Tom, C. J. Simmons an acceptable St. Clair, Maud Hillman a very exuberant and vivacious Topsy. The other parts were fairly rendered. Little Blanche Hillman as Eva spoke her lines with a clearness of enunciation and with a self possession remarkable in so young a child. The big dogs were quite a feature in the play. The vitality of this drama is marvelous. After being on the boards for thirty years it yet has sufficient attractive power to fill a house, when other plays of equal or greater merit fail to pay expenses.

NEARLY A MIRACLE.

R. Asenith Hall, Binghamton, N. Y. writes: "I have suffered for several months with a dull pain through left lung and shoulders. I lost my spirits, appetite and color, and could with difficulty keep up all day. My mother procured some Burdock Blood Bitters; I took them as directed, and have felt no pain since first week after using them, and am now quite well." Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

For cigars, tobacco, pipes, &c., go to Alexander & Woodhouse, whose stock is the largest and best in Bloomsburg. Country merchants can make rare bargains by purchasing of this firm, who are fair dealers and liberal to their customers.

The dwelling house of John Getkin, near Catawissa, was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning last, together with most of its contents. The inmates were slightly burned in making their escape, so rapid was the progress of the flames. The loss falls heavily upon Mr. Getkin who is a poor man, and a subscription to aid him has been started in Catawissa.

Messrs. Alexander & Woodhouse will hereafter have a retail candy department in their store and their grand opening will take place to-morrow, Saturday. There has been such a demand for this addition to their business, that it is deemed best to yield to the wishes of their customers. A choice assortment of candies, plain and fancy, will be kept on hand at all times.

PERSONAL.

Mr. H. Bruce Clark has gone to the city to purchase new goods.

Jacob Snyder, formerly of Espy, has taken up his residence in Bloomsburg.

Brower Brugler of Missouri has returned to Bloomsburg to attend the Normal School. His younger brother Edward accompanied him for the same purpose.

When you come to the Fair next week be sure and call on J. J. Brower and inspect his splendid stock of carpets, rugs, mats, oil cloths, hassocks, &c. He has carpets of all grades and and for all prices, and is sure that he can suit all demands. His stock has recently been renewed and now includes the latest and most fashionable goods in his line. We advise our readers to stop at Mr. Brower's store and satisfy themselves that our statement is true.

BUCKHORN NEWS.

S. S. Shoemaker who has been confined to his room for two months is not improving.

Mr. A. B. Vanliew is in Philadelphia laying in a stock of goods.

Quite a large party surprised the Rev. G. V. Savidge on Friday evening.

Mr. Frank P. Harris has gone to Philadelphia to attend the College of Pharmacy.

Mr. Harry Stodder, of Wilkes-Barre was the guest of Dr. C. Lenker on Saturday.

On the evening of the recent festival, the spring house of H. D. McBride was robbed of fourteen pounds of butter, and W. C. Ikichart had the cushions stolen out of his buggy.

Our band have just received some more new instruments. The boys are making rapid progress under their proficient teacher, Prof. Thomas Metherall.

The recent festival held by the members of the Lutheran church was a decided success. The receipts were over $200 and net profits over $150. A very fine cake baked by Mrs. Wesley Pursel was presented to the band; they in return presented it to their teacher, Mr. Metherell.

The members of the Lutheran church desire to return their sincere thanks to the band for their music furnished on the occasion of their festival and to the public in general for their assistance and patronage.

Merchants who visit Bloomsburg during the Fair, should not fail to visit the wholesale department of Moyer Bros.' establishment. They will find a very large and complete stock of drugs, chemicals, paints, oils, varnishes, potash, cigars and, in fact, everything pertaining to the drug business. Moyer Bros. have such extensive dealings with manufacturers that they are enabled to purchase at the lowest possible rates and give the advantage of bargains to their customers. County merchants will find that they can obtain better articles and cheaper prices from Moyer Bros'. than they can secure by purchasing direct from city dealers.

A TOWN PUMP AGITATION.

Many years ago when it was customary to start a city by locating a pump in some central site, and then building up all around it, a town-pump was erected on a spot that has since become the leading thoroughfare of Bloomsburg. With the march of civilization and the enlargement of ideas, a demand arose for the removal of the pump which was looked upon by the more progressive people of the place as a nuisance. Those who entertained a regard for the venerable, contended however, that as the pump was "an old settler" it should remain where it was placed, until such time as it saw fit to go to pieces of its own accord, like the wonderful one-hoss shay, which it will be remembered broke down—

"All at once, and nothing first,
Just like bubbles when they burst."

This difference of opinion naturally led to a lively dispute, and the pump became a political issue. There was the pump and the anti-pump party, and so vigorously did they advocate their principles that they managed to divide opinion on the subject throughout the county and narrowly escaped urging a plank on the matter in the several State Conventions. The contest might have achieved National notoriety were it not for the unfortunate fact that it drifted into the local court, where, sad to say, the venerable Judge Elwell "sat down" on the pump, and decided it must go. He claimed that it had no rights—never had any, not even the title of a squatter, and that it was little better than a standing nuisance. It is slyly hinted that the milkmen of the place were mostly in favor of retention, as they found it a valuable ally in watering their stock. Be this as it may, rumor states that an effort will be made by its old friends to secure it a place in Central Park near the obelisk.—Scranton Republican.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Agricultural Society was held at the Exchange Hotel on Saturday last, to make final arrangements for the Fair next week. It was decided to lay a pipe to connect with the Water Company's main, in order that there may be an ample supply of water for live stock. There are three wells on the ground from which water can be drawn for drinking purposes, &c. A bell will be placed on the Committee's building, for the purpose of summoning the judges and members of the Committee, as occasion demands.

M. C. Woodward has been appointed Chief of Police on the grounds and C. K. Hughes, Chief Marshal. There will be a large police force of good material and the best of order will be maintained.

No driving will be allowed on the track until the opening of the Fair, and new locks have been placed on the gates to prevent access to the grounds.

Excursion rates have been secured over the various railroads. Tickets on the Reading road will be good from the 12th to the 17th insts., and those on the L. & B. and Sunbury, Hazleton & Wilkes-Barre roads, during the days of the Fair's continuance.

Dinner will be served on the grounds by the Reform Church and the price will remain the same as last year, despite the increased cost of edibles. Excellent meals will be furnished—a fact which lovers of good eating will do well to bear in mind.

Mr. F. B. Hartman, the Secretary of the Society, will be at the office of T. Jeff. Vanderslice, Esq., on Monday and Tuesday next, for the purpose of making entries.

The Committee are doing all in their power to make the Fair a success, and there seems to be no reason why it should not be. The recent change in the weather will render a visit to the grounds much more comfortable and, unless a storm sets in, there will undoubtedly be a large attendance, both from this and adjoining counties.

LINGLE—BROWER.

One of the most brilliant weddings that Bloomsburg has ever witnessed occurred on Wednesday morning last, at St. Paul's Episcopal church. The parties to the contract were Miss Mary Brower, youngest daughter of J. J. Brower, Esq., of this town, and Mr. J. Howard Lingle, of Bellefonte. The church was beautifully trimmed with flowers and evergreens, a large floral bell hanging from the corona in the chancel. At the appointed hour, nine o'clock, the invited guests were in their seats, and soon afterward the bridal party arrived. At the the door they were met by the ushers, who headed the procession up the centre aisle, the bridesmaids following, and the bride entering last on the arm of her father. As the procession moved up the aisle, the organist performed the Bridal March from "Lohengrin" and the clergymen, Rev. J. Hewitt, of Bellefonte, and Rev. L. Zahner, the Rector, entered the chancel from the vestry room, accompanied by the groom, and his "best man," Mr. C. F. Montgomery, of Bellefonte. The bridal party stopped at the foot of the chancel steps, the groom receiving the bride from her father, and the two proceeded to the chancel rail where the marriage ceremony was performed. At the close the organ pealed forth in joyous tones the familiar old "Wedding March" by Mendelsohn and the party left the church in reverse order of entering. The ushers were Mr. Richard Beaston, of Blanchard, Centre county; Mr. J. L. Spangler and Mr. T. J. Keogh, of Bellefonte and Mr. Jas. C. Williams, of Baltimore.

The gentlemen all wore full dress suits. The bridesmaids were Miss Ada Brower, sister of the bride, and Miss Lottie Powell, of New York, and were dressed in white mull with veils, and water lilies. The bride was beautifully attired in white brocaded silk, with long train, tulle veil and orange blossoms. The diamond ear rings worn by her were the gift of the groom.

A reception was held at the residence of Mr. Brower from half past nine to half past eleven, and was attended by more than one hundred persons. Among those present from other places were Miss Flora Fox, Miss Kate Best, Miss Bessie Montgomery, Miss Emma Lingle, Mrs. J. Hewitt, and Mr. M. J. Lunn, of Bellefonte; Mrs. A. A. Marple, of Bridgeport, Pa.; Mrs. Baldy, Miss Martha Baldy and Miss Mertie Baldy, of Danville; Mr. Murray, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Monroe of Rupert.

There were many valuable and handsome gifts, a few of which are named here: Large family Bible, diamond ring, mantel clock, two sconces, fruit dish, berry dish, two cake baskets, toilet set, a number of perfumery bottles, two card receivers, two pickle castors, ice pitcher, jewel box, pie knife, brass candlesticks, two lamps, napkin rings, butter knives, two dozen silver tea spoons, fruit knives, nut picks, coffee spoons, salt spoons, painted china, lambrequins, wall pockets, vases, and a number of beautiful fancy articles.

Mr. and Mrs. Lingle left home 'midst a shower of rice and old shoes, to take the noon train. They went to Philadelphia, and from there will visit New York, Baltimore and Richmond, taking a trip of about two weeks. May they live long and prosper.

THE BERWICK EXPERIMENT.

EDITORS COLUMBIAN: Allow me to break my long silence with a few words concerning the result of the experiment of unlicensed hotels. It is well known that the press of neighboring towns, and many of the citizens of this town, consider the scheme a failure. As the press gets its knowledge from the citizens of Berwick, the latter are responsible for the verdict. Those of us who have reported the experiment unsatisfactorily, as well as those who believe it a success, generally have been moved to do so, not by a close inquiry or observation, but by our wish, desire or hope. These conflicting opinions have induced me try to lay aside prejudice, and then inquire and observe. As the result of my inquiry, I find that the police are as much drunkenness now as before the era of prohibition, but that the carousing is confined mainly to the lower end of the town, hence the citizens of that region generally condemn the temperance plan, while those living in the hotel quarter rather uphold it. One business man remarked to me, that certain of his customers once tardy with orders, now are prompt with cash payments; another said that certain of his patrons are not so much in arrears as formerly; both were positive this improvement is owing to the non-license plan. Another observer says the young men drink less and that there is less social drinking. These statements, in a measure, offset what the police see, and probably form a better criterion for judging the matter than the general comments floating around. The conclusion to which your reporter, an advocate of neither licensed hotels nor prohibition, but a layman as it were, has come is that those who loved liquor before the new era love it still and drink it; that those who drank socially, only, do so no longer; that there are fewer new recruits to the army of drinkers and this result in itself stamps the non-license plan with "not failure but success," for success in this matter means not curing the drunkard but turning the young and giddy from the drunkard's path. Any scheme that accomplishes this is a success, and if I were an ardent reformer in this particular branch I would not waste a moment upon the army of drunkards, but direct all my efforts against the reinforcements it is apt to receive. Let this army go to the "dogs" unbridled, but let it go alone.

BARBED WIRE

are undoubtedly the cheapest and most durable fence made, is not effected by fire, wind or flood, does not cause snow drifts, takes fewer posts and stock cannot push it down. Our wire is four pointed, is made of two strands of number 12 best galvanized steel wire twisted together just enough to allow for contraction and expansion in Summer and Winter, barbs are fastened every seven inches. The use of barbed wire is no longer an experiment, as last year over one hundred thousand miles were put up. We believe our wire to be the best and cheapest now manufactured because it is made of the best steel wire and runs 15 feet to the pound having the greatest strength and visibility with the least weight of any made. Put up on spools of about 100 rods weighing about 100 pounds. Price per pound 11 cents by the spool, less quantities 11½ cents per pound.

There is a dangerous counterfeit in circulation, purporting to be "Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer." REAL ESTATE!

By virtue of an order of the Court of Common Pleas of Columbia county, setting forth that par part No. 2 in the writ of inquisition in No. 182 of December Term, 1880, in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbia county, Edward Wagner guardian of Lizzie Watts, a minor child of Oliver Watts deceased, &c., vs. William Watts, was not taken at the appraised value thereof, and that the same should be sold at public auction by the Sheriff of Columbia county. Now therefore I, U. H. Ent, High Sheriff of Columbia county aforesaid in compliance with said order, will expose to public sale on the premises in Franklin township, Columbia county, Pa., on

at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day the said

Remarkable Progress in Agriculture.

The census bulletin shows that the past ten years have been the most remarkable period of agricultural growth in the history of the country. The entire cereal product of the United States has made the enormous advance of nearly one hundred per cent. During the preceding decade the increase was but 12 per cent., while between 1850 and 1860 it was 43 per cent. As each census reports the crop of but a single year, the returns of two censuses merely afford the data for comparing the crops of two seasons ten years apart. One of these may be an exceptionally bad and the other an unusually good agricultural year. Hence a comparison of the two may show an increase either much greater or much less than has actually taken place. The apparent increase shown by the census of 1880 is doubtless considerably greater than the real. But making all due allowance for this consideration the fact still remains that the progress made in the production of cereals during the past ten years has been marvelous. The yield of wheat alone has advanced from 287,000,000 to 459,000,000 bushels, a gain of 73 percent. while the product of Indian corn has sprung from 760,000,000 to 1,772,000,000 bushels, an increase of 133 per cent. The enormous productive capacity of the great West and Northwest is shown by the fact that seventenths of the entire wheat crop of the United States is grown in the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, California and Wisconsin; while the three States, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri together produced in 1879—the year covered by the census returns—upward of eight hundred million bushels of corn, or more than the yield of the entire country in 1869. Verily the United States will be able to feed not only its own rapidly multiplying people, but also to supply Europe with bread and meat whenever needed.

Melon and Squash Culture.

A practical gardener makes the following important statement: "Last year at a test of frequent practice among growers of melons and squashes, I pinched the ends of the long main shoots of the melons, squashes and cucumbers, and left some to run at their own will. One squash plant sent out a single stem reaching more than forty feet, but did not bear any fruit. Another plant was pinched until it formed a compact mass of intermingling side shoots, eight feet square, and it bore sixteen squashes. The present year a musk melon plant thus pinched in covers the space allotted to it, and it has set twenty-three specimens of fruit, the most of which have been pinched off. The pinching off causes many lateral branches, which latter produce the female or fertile blossoms, while the main vines produce only the male blossoms. The difference in favor of the yield of an acre of melons treated by this pinching process may easily amount to 100 barrels."

Storing Potatoes.

Many persons dig their potatoes and dump them on the barn floor to see if any will rot before taking them to the cellar for the winter. There would be but little objection to this if the tubers were not exposed to the light, and their qualities injured thereby. The correct thing to do is to sort and store as soon as possible after digging. This saves the loss from sunburn and the exposure to the light even if the sun does not shine on them, both of which injure the quality of the tubers for table use. Besides this, it is best to store the potatoes in as cool a place as possible at once. This used to be the method years ago, before the rot affected the crop. They were taken to the cellar direct from the field, and sorted at leisure during wet or cold days, or when a load was wanted to take to market. There is yet a little rot occasionally, but not enough to return to the old practice of putting the tubers away from the light.—Tribune and Farmer.

The Manure Heap.

The mine of wealth to a farmer is his manure heap. Upon his ability to get a big one depends his profits to a great extent. An exchange gives the following practical advice to farmers: "Manure should be forked over occasionally to make it fine. If it is heating, then muck or loam should be mixed with it to absorb the ammonia which is formed during decomposition. Sprinkling the manure pile with ground plaster is advisable. The plaster will absorb any ammonia which escapes from the pile and save it for the use of growing plants. Ammonia is too valuable an element of plant food to allow it to be wasted. Again upon some lands plaster is an excellent fertilizer. A great deal of material to add to the heap could often be got together, and the heap made to grow in size considerably."

An Ohio farmer has this to say about harvesting orchard grass for seed: "Cut with the grain cradle, tie in small bundles, about as large as you can span with both hands, set in shocks in the way we used to set up flax, let stand about ten days; take in when quite dry, mow away if you please or thresh off the seed at once by taking a bundle at a time and striking it over a barrel. By this operation you only get the seed and it is clean. If you run it through a threshing machine and take all the wind off, you have hay and seed go off together, for it cannot be cleaned by wind, for it is too light. Having my own thresher, I would never pretend to run orchard grass through to clean it. I have grown this grass quite a number of years, and feel assured if farmers once try it they will keep it on their farms, as it makes the earliest pasture, being a rapid grower. Two crops of hay can be cut in a season."

ROUP IN TURKEYS.—Turkeys are often afflicted with roup, which is supposed to be caused by cold storms, winds, or running out in the grass and weeds when wet with dew. This disease is highly contagious, and will frequently spread through an entire flock of domestic fowls, no matter how large. The afflicted birds should be separated from the healthy ones, and kept in a dry and moderately warm place. Wash the heads and nostrils with vinegar, and feed meal in which a little cayenne pepper is mixed. Make a solution of the following: Two ounces of sulphate of iron and one fourth of an ounce of sulphuric acid dissolved in two quarts of water. To every pint of water given the fowls to drink, add one teaspoonful of the above mixture until a cure is effected.

Col. A. Wood Merrywheather, whom everybody in Scranton, Pa., knows, writes and says: "I had long suffered from a derangement of the bladder and kidneys; it had made my general health very poor. I was also troubled with indigestion; pills gave me only temporary relief, and I experienced great anxiety of mind as well as physical distress. A friend recommended Brown's Iron Bitters. I have used it with gratifying results, and just now my health never was better, and I feel that the cure is permanent."

Year by year the British army, once the most beautifully clad and brilliantly equipped in the world, loses something in picturesqueness. Feathers and epaulettes are gone, and, except with the hussars, lace of gold or silver has all but disappeared. Such is the rage for economy and utility that every button, save such as may be absolutely necessary to keep his clothes upon his back, has vanished from the soldier's tunic. The marines are still permitted half a dozen such ornaments on the skirt of their tunics, but it is enough to make soldiers despondent and civilians smile to see how button after button is cut off the uniforms of both cavalry and infantry. Two are now all that are allowed at the back of the infantry tunic. The very facings are now pared down to the merest selvage. Those decorations which gave prettiness and variety to the uniform, and were once regarded as the distinctive badges of regiments, are now nothing more than tiny patches upon the cuff and collar.

When Mercury is playing among the nineties it Mars the pleasure of existence, and we feel as though we might Diana minute, and as though we needed something to Bacchus. If we have Centaur family into the country, it is not such a Ceres matter, for we can manage to Pan out somehow or another. But, if a fellow has several little Cupids to take care of, he is in a bad fix. In a case of that kind I always find Minerva failing, and Juno yourself that it does in Vesta fellow with solicitude.—Detroit Free Press.

A Southern clergyman says he would prefer to trundle a wheelbarrow at fifty cents a day than be William H. Vanderbilt, rolling in wealth and illeness. That's very silly. Mr. Vanderbilt can also trundle a barrow, if he wants to.

An Ohio boy has run away with a party of Indians. If he has received the proper Ohio training he will be chief of the tribe before six months, and have all the valuable property of red men about where he wants it.

You needn't wish your enemy to write a book. Wish that he owned a house with brackets under the cornice. The English sparrows will do the rest.

GOOD ADVICE FROM A LEADING MEDICAL PROFESSOR.

The learned doctor says: "Keep some kind of a tonic medicine always in the house, and if any feels unwell make free use of it. But first be sure that it is both harmless as well as meritorious. Put no trust in alcoholic preparations; their use will lead to intemperance; neither be partial to any remedy that produces a severe cathartic effect, for prostration of the nervous system and digestive organs is sure to follow. The mildest and best medicine ever invented for strengthening every part of the body and restoring impaired or lost organic functions to their normal condition, and one which is having an unparalleled and rapidly increasing sale in the Eastern States, is Brown's Iron Bitters. Any druggist will procure it for you if you request him to do so, especially when he finds you cannot be persuaded to take some substitute. It does not contain alcohol, and is the only preparation that cures headache and does not blacken the teeth. It is a sure reviver, a true strengthener, and the very best medicine ever invented for permanently strengthening the pulmonary, urinary and digestive organs, and preventing consumption, kidney diseases and chronic dyspepsia, often curing these diseases when all other remedies have failed; for it is truly nature's best assistant."—Gazette.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

The Great Unfailing SPECIFIC FOR Liver Complaint.

THE SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT

are uneasiness and pain in the side, sometimes pain in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism; the Stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; bowels, in general, costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation; considerable loss of memory, with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done; often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved.

REGULATE THE LIVER, AND PREVENT

Dyspepsia, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Attacks, Chills and Fever, Headache, Colic, Depression of Spirits, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Piles, etc.

Tonic, Alterative and Cathartic!

Simmons Liver Regulator, purely vegetable, is the medicine generally used in the South to arouse the torpid Liver to healthy action.

It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy on the liver and kidneys.

The action of the Regulator is free from nausea or griping. It is most effective in starting the secretions of the Liver, causing the bile to act as a cathartic. When there is an excess of bile in the Stomach, the Regulator is an active purge; after the removal of the bile it will regulate the bowels and impart vigor and health to the whole system.

Ayer's Pills are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.
